THE arrangements with regard to the col every Sunday, at half-past ten A.M., in the into the Kwangtung province have not Chapel of the Berlin Foundling House, yet been definitely settled. Instructions were issued about a fortnight ago empowering the Foreign Customs to collect the tax. These instructions, however, were somewhat premature. The Customs have not yet all the necessary machinery for carrying through the work, and they are not anxious to undertake it unless on the express stipulation that no additional inland tax shall be levied. It is doubtful whether the Canton authorities are quite prepared to give this stipulation. The authorities at Peking, we are led to understand, are anxious that the collection should be undertaken by the Foreign Customs, but the time for the transfer has scarcely arrived yet. The indecision that prevails at Canton has not been allogether prejudicial to merchants, for during the last fortnight no lekin has been collected. It is probable that pending the solution of the wider question of the collection of all inland taxes on foreign goods by the Foreign Customs—a scheme which, we learn THE Agent of the M. M. Co. informs us on good authority, is viewed with favour at that the steamship Djemnah, with the next Paking-some temporary arrangement will French mail, left Saigon to-day at 10 s.m. be made at Canton whereby the likin, fixed for this port. at a definite rate, will be collected by the Hoppo or the Board of Revenue. It is highly improbable that the Six Boards at Pokin have, as reported in the Daily Press, instructed the Viceroy of the Two Kwang to farm out the tax on cotton, kerosone &c. to a syndicate of merchants. Such procedure is not consonant with the functions of the Boards. They criticise actions and schemes, but they very rarely initiate them. The syndicates that wished to farm out the tax have not, it is true, thrown up the sponge. It is quite possible that they weeks hard labour. may have made a very tempting offer to the Viceroy; and if they can give sufficient guarantee that the tax will be uniformly collected and no attempts made to squeeze, steam launch carrying the Bethel flag will he may be inclined to listen to their prayers, call alongside any vessel heisting code but no decision to that effect has yet been pennant O., to convey men ashere to 11 come to. This vaciliating policy at Canton, a.m. service at St. Peter's Scamen's which cannot fail to be injurious to trade, Church, returning about 12.30. ought to persuade merchants in the Far East of the desirability of agitating in favour of the transference to the Foreign Customs of Royal last night, when Stanley's Company

In ordering it is only necessary to the collection of all inland taxes-lekin, state the name and quantity of Wine or chingfei, loti, transit duties, or by whatever going portion of the community are inname they are called on foreign goods; It would not, we are persuaded, be very difficult to obtain the consent of Chins. As far back as 1869 Sir Rutherford Alcock negotiated a convention on these lines. On the payment of the present duty and one half more, foreign goods were to be allowed to circulate freely within the province in which the port of entry was situated. But the foreign merchants of that day distrusted the Chinese promises. declaring that tolls and taxes would be levied by the provincial officials in spite of the higher duty; and the Convention fell through. Perhaps the merchants were right at the time, but since 1869 the power of the Central Government over the provinces has greatly increased. The Opium Convention has moreover given us a practical test of what the Central Authorities can do when they seriously resolve to carry out a convention. At the first there were a few complaints about attempts by provincial officials here and there to get some pickings out of opium. It was impossible to effect such a radical change over a large area without a little friction. But the squeezes were resisted, and we can say, on the very best authority, that the convention is now faithfully carried out by the Chinese. What 7.50 has been done with regard to opium-the most squeezable of all articles—could be done with regard to all foreign goods. We need not repeat what we have so often said about the advantages of having one single fixed tax levied by an honest department in place of the irregular levies made by dishouest officials. The advantages are self-evident, and it only requires an earnest effort on the part of merchants in the Far East, backed by the Ministers at Peking.

THERE was a good andience at the Theatre performed Harbour Lights. The playopportunity of seeing this and other new pieces, and for the great care which he takes to put thom on the stage in the completest possible way. Harbour Lights was said to be one of the company's strong cards, and those who were present at yesterday evening's performance must have been convinced that the rowan good ground for that opinion. In the series of sensational plays recently produced at the Adelphi Thestre, Harbour Lights takes, with good reason, prominent place. It is essentially what may be called a pit-and-gallery play; and it is undoubtedly a good specimen of that class. To say that it is skilfully constructed and full of interest is only equivalent to saying that it is one of the productions of Mesers G. R. Sime and Henry Pettit. It is true that it runs perilously near the parrow line which separates what is true from what is jales in dramatic art, and that it sometimes gets a little on the wrong aide of the line, but it does not at any time relax its hold on the attention and sympathy of the audience. To sit out a five-act play is something of an ordeal in the present temperature, but the audience last night seemed to undergo it cheerfully. The piece, like everything that Mr Stanley puts on the stage, was excellently mounted, and every detail was carefully attended to. The principal parts wore, with one or two exceptions, well filled, and better support could hardly be desired than was given by the members of the company to whom the minor parts were allotted. Miss F. Stanley gave a very praiseworthy impersonation of the part of Dora Fane and established herself in the good graces of the audience at the outset. The role is by no means an easy one and the ability with which Miss Stanley austained it says a good deal for her dramatic talent. Miss Schlericka as Lena Nelson was more successful than one would expect, judging from her previous appearances. Miss Santley was an excellent Peggy Chudleigh, and, as usual, a great favourite with the audience. Miss Dolly Inman was somewhat stiff and unnatural as Mrs Chudleigh Mr Fletcher gave a very good account of the part of the brave and simple hearted young navel

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Sambas to a Surabaya newspaper, points out that, in Netherlands livraed, most of the concessions fall into the hands of British speculators with a Notherlander as figure head, He fancies that the British will soon overrun Sambas in this way. The Sultans of Sambas and Cotic having set the example in granting concessions, another chief, the Parlembahan of Matan, on the West Coast of Borneo, has followed the example, and now offers to lease land within his territories. He is nominally a Netherlands vassal but both chief and people are said to be rather barbarous and fickle. Meanwhile it should be borne in mind that scarcity of labour hampers industrial enterprise ir Borneo. The Malays of the land are too lazy to bestir themselves much in cultivat. ing the soil. The Dyaks know little about cultivation and are only us-ful in felling jungle, but do quite as well as the Malays in seeking forest produce. The writer of 'The Natural History of a Chinese girl, in the N. C. Daily News, appearances point to no more satisfactory | concludes his third paper on the subject as result in the near future. But in case of the violent death of the likely to fall four per cent, short of those, married woman, all this is reversed, and by a natural process of re-action the family of the married woman becomes a fierce and formidable autogonist. Principles such as these have but to be put in issue between two large villages, or families, and we have the well known clan fights of Southern China, in all their percunial bitterness and intensity. One of the weakest parts of the Chinese social fabric is the insecurity of the life and happiness of woman, but no structure is stronger than its weakest part and Chinese society is no exception to this law. Every year thousands upon thousands of Chinese wives commit suicide, tens of thousands of other persons are thereby involved in serious trouble, hundreds of thousands of yet others are dragged in as co-partners in the difficulty and millious of dullars are expended in extravagant funerals and ruinous lawsuits. And all this is the outcome of the Confucian theory that a wife has no rights which a husband is bound to respect. The law affords her no protection while she lives, and such justice as she is able with difficulty to exact is strictly a post morten concession. The reality of the evils of the Ohinese sys am of marriages is evidence by the extreme expedients to which upmarried girls sometimes resort, to avoid matrimony. Chinese newspapers not jufrequently contain references in organised societies of young maidens, who selemnly vow never to wed.

We have the honour to be, Sir, your its present financial position, a request which was met by putting at our disposal the financial details prepared for the usual by his Attorney directors' meeting, and which show the position of the Company as nearly as can be estimated at the and of June this year We find that the total known liabili ties of the Company at the present moment are $80,000, consisting of advised as pending; and course there are the possible losses of the Against these the Company has assets amounting to $709,000 (its capital being $583,000); and therefore there can be no ground for the present rumour of a unless on the assumption that these. assets are locked up beyond prompt recall. To that point we directed attention, and we nacertained that, bosides a number of heads, (such as agents' balances and the like) the investments are chiefly as follows : on current banking account $32 000; on deposit with Banks $173,000 ; T. P. Land Co. debentures $40,000 : Chinese Government loan $23,000; on mortgage $344,000. Now it is obvious that the whole amount with the Banks is immediately available, because we all know that any Bank will either shorten the term of a deposit receipt, or lend against it, as may be most convenient to its onsing, and asked for a month's leave from his tomer, so that at once the Company has $205,000 at command. The Chinese loan stock is also immediately marketable, and so are the 9°/, debentures of the Tanjong Pagar Land Co. The mortgages of course are not at once realisable, and if they were all called in it would probably be impossible to collect the money within the legal time, but we are essured by the Secretary that the properties were all carefully considered and re-valued in February last by Mr. C. E. Crane, the Company's valuer, an that there was shown an ample margin of security; and, assuming Mr. Crane's valua tions to represent the true value of the properties, the cosition of the Company in the event of any need to recall these sums improved by the fact that there are now Is appears from the native papers, says several London companies desirous to lend the Shanghai Mercury, that H.E.
